From Pastor Jay

I am pleased to share that the Mike Vax Jazz Quarter will be here for Jazz Vespers on Wednesday, April 27, from 6:30-8:00 PM. It has been interesting to watch the steady growth during our first three months of offering this to the community, and to see the continuing growth of attendees outside of our church family. Mike Vax is well known in the Jazz community of Prescott, so it should be a good crowd for this one – plan to join us!

THE MIKE VAX QUARTET

Mike Vax and his Quartet bring dynamic excitement to audiences wherever they appear. Their music knows no boundaries of time or style. The group attains a swinging feel, while playing tunes from the early years of the 20th century through today.

Members of the band have performed with some of the greatest names in jazz and swing music, including: Stan Kenton, The Glenn Miller Orchestra, The Jimmy Dorsey Orchestra, The Harry James Orchestra, Terry Gibbs, Al Hirt, Pete Fountain, Mel Torme', Maxine Sullivan, Anita O'Day, June Christy, Joe Williams, Bob Florence, The Four Freshmen, and the Dukes of Dixieland in New Orleans.

The MV Quartet has been performing their own brand of jazz and swing music for over 40 years. The groups have performed for jazz festivals, conventions, cruise ships, hotels, resorts, high school and college concerts and dances, dance clubs, and jazz societies all over the United States.

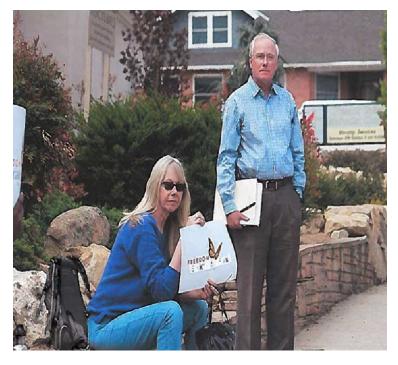

Leader Mike Vax is very active in the music education field. He has performed concerts and workshops in both the classical and jazz idioms at over 2500 high schools, colleges and universities all over the world, over the past 46 years. He is an international performing artist for the Getzen Musical Instrument Company.

Mike is also the director of the Prescott Jazz Summit, a successful jazz festival and concert promotion group that has been in existence for the past 16 years, in Prescott, Arizona.

This Sunday we will consider Psalm 23 and how much we need it throughout life. Everyone should have it memorized. Let's plan on it by Sunday:)

"President John Flicker was at the press conference but didn't speak"

How funny and rather shocking to discover my picture in a news article from the Phoenix New Times, mistaking me for the college president! John let me know the college had contacted the paper to make them aware of their error. And what an error it was! The writer went on to say that not only was John there – and did not speak – but he did not even say anything to the students. I joked with John that I should have done a better job of representing him.

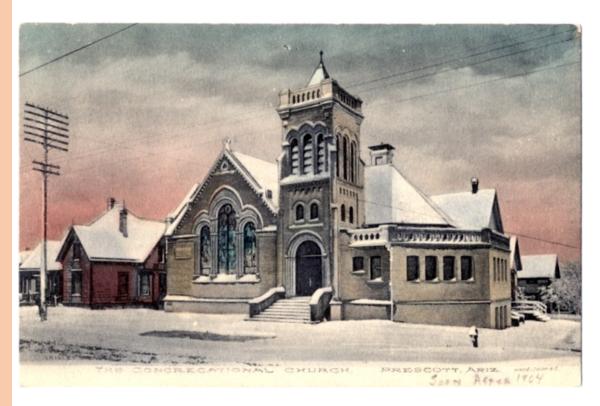

And the reporter could have done a better job by simply asking me who I was! — Jay

FCC History

From "Meeting The Four O'Clock Train" by Dixon Fagerberg, Jr.

CHURCHES. Although it had a population of only about 5,000 circa 1920, Prescott had its full share of the country's typical religious denominations.....

In most Prescott families, it was firmly established that children were to attend Sunday School, and my sisters and I certainly did.....

My own affiliation, from kindergarten age through high school, was the Congregational Church.....

The Sunday School at our church was a most estimable institution. It was well staffed and had a complete set of age-group classes ranging from toddlers (the "Sunbeams") to the Men's Advanced Bible Class. Most Memorable of my own Sunday School teachers were Mr. Emerson, Hilliard Brooke and Dr. Clarence E. Yount. The program each Sunday morning followed a well established pattern. First the entire membership would meet as one group for a song or songs and a brief prayer. Then each class would meet in separate sessions for Bible study and instruction. Finally, the individual classes would reassemble and recite the Bible verse they had learned that day.

Perfect Sunday School attendance was celebrated one Sunday of each year. It was called Rally Day. Different badges or buttons were emblems signifying the number of years of perfect attendance. Quite a number earned five-year badges. Only five or six received ten-year buttons. Next came the heavyweights. One of these, for say, seventeen years of perfect attendance, was Morris Payne. Outranking even him, for say, twenty-three years of being there every Sunday, was Emma Riebeling. Outdoing them all, and representing over thirty years of regular attendance was the Sunday School Superintendent. The champion! M.B. Hazeltine.
